

Seen, Heard and Told

By The Editor

Do not forget to vote in the city primary Saturday. You have five mayor candidates to select from; you have 4 marshal candidates to pick over; you have 10 honest candidates for aldermen, and can get 6 of them. "Miss" White, apparently, has been nominated.

We are sure many friends in Grenada are sorry to learn of the sudden death of Lt. J. K. Morrison Jr., son of our old friend, J. K. Morrison. Lt. Morrison of the U. S. Navy was enjoying a splendid naval career, just recently having received national prominence for his part in the Squalus disaster.

Dear Mr. Mann: we are printing your letter next week, an are sorry you are not at state job yet. I guess you got your copy of weak sheet 2 you care up the governors office.

Our prayer is for you to vote for old Square Dealer Whitaker, the last hope of the people.

I have been sort of flung this week, to keep in style. The medicine killed the flu, also almost killed me.

Our esteemed Raymond subscriber, Bob Biggs, honored us with a call one day this week.

We are going to keep on bragging on Paul's program as we have for a long time now.

A call meeting of the DISHonest ALderman's Club was held Wednesday night in the home of one of the main members. They decided that the worse punishment that can be given a person is to ignore that person.

Everybody misses Tom Meek, especially the peep-under addicts.

We have a few more copies of the Mardi Gras issues here on tap.

Vote for Square Dealer Whitaker. He even dips Square Deal Snuff.

John Bradley insists that Honest Clarence Burt be referred to as L. C. Burt—Lying Clarence—but we are not going to do it.

Grenada is mighty proud of Senator Winter who has received wonderful comment from the conservative state press.

Me and Paul.

Death has taken a heavy toll in and around Grenada since we went to press last week.

Our old friend School Truster O. D. Spratlin appears to be going into business in the Horton Building. Good luck, Spratlin.

We are this week turning the "average man" controversy over to Fred Sullens and Paul Johnson. Fred's paper quoted Paul as saying the average man was not the man who toiled in the field, etc. Paul in a telephone conversation to us sort of hinted that he did not say any such a damn thing. That average man is youall's baby, not mine. Take him, he has wet his dildies.

Several saloons were raided recently.

Dominos and "Domineck".

Read classified ads and see what brother Pearson has lost. Bilbo layed his down; Pearson lost hisssen.

The old lady hotfooted it to Water Valley Thursday.

Do not forget to put in one for old S. D. Whyte—Square Dealer.

We hope the legislature will let the poll tax law alone.

Me and Mike are merely hibernating.

"Miss" Alma and her new husband are visiting in Grenada.

Square Dealer Whitaker, the Poor Man's Friend.

Avent McElwraith tried to get me to put a big piece in the paper about who gave that pretty lady that box of candy.

While his wife is away Hamp Weir is wearing a mysterious black eye.

The stork layed off this week.

Turn the page and look at the Art gallery of fine looking men—our candidates for mayor portrayed in all their beauty and charm.

Aint they sweet.

May the Good Lord save us!

NUMBER THIRTY

Harry S. Brown Died Suddenly On Sunday Morning Last

Mr. Harry Mack Brown, well-known citizen of Grenada, died at his home in Grenada Sunday, February 11, 1940, after a very brief illness.

He was born in Hopkinsville, Kentucky on April 12, 1876 and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Brown of that city.

Moving to Grenada as a young man, he married Miss Essie Garner a number of years ago. He worked for many years for the American Express Co. and for the L.C. Railroad. For the past twenty years, however, he and his devoted wife have followed the restaurant business, sometimes successfully, some times with failure. His health has been considered bad for a number of years.

Services in the home were conducted Monday by Rev. G. E. Wiley and Rev. E. R. Henderson, and they were followed by interment in the old cemetery in Grenada.

Messrs. Herman Heath, L. C. Walker, Bob Sharp, Roger Parker, W. E. Jackson, and John T. Keeton served as pall bearers.

Harry Brown was a kind-hearted man, and one who, beset with physical and financial troubles sufficient to daunt a less hardy soul, pressed on, seeking, with the aid of his always faithful wife, to combat as best he could life's hideous problems.

He is survived by one daughter, Amy; and two sons, Elmo and J. O.; and one grandson, J. W. Adams, whom she reared from an infant; as well as many other relatives, and to them we extend sympathy.

Death Angel Called For Mrs. Molly S. Weir On Last Friday

Mrs. Molly Smith Weir died in her home six miles east of Grenada Friday February 9, 1940.

She was born in "the Fork" country of Grenada—then Yabobusha—County Dec. 6, 1890 and was the daughter of the pioneer J. O. Smith family. In the early '80s she and Mr. James Weir married. Mr. Weir died following an accident in 1894, leaving the widow and four small children. There has never been much a better manager than "Miss Molly", as she was known by whites and blacks alike. Paying off the mortgage with the insurance money, Mrs. Weir reared her children and never became involved in debt again. She died in the home she had always lived in. She was a life-long member of the Baptist Church.

Her body was buried at the Smith graveyard in Beat Three Saturday. There the bodies of her husband, parents and other loved ones have been buried. Rev. E. R. Henderson of Central Baptist Church performed the funeral services.

She is survived by one daughter, Amy; and two sons, Elmo and J. O.; and one grandson, J. W. Adams, whom she reared from an infant; as well as many other relatives, and to them we extend sympathy.

Mrs. T. E. Clark Died Here Wednesday

Mrs. T. E. Clark died in her home east of Duck Hill Wednesday, February 7, 1940, after an illness of about 12 months.

She was born in Webster County on November 26, 1878. Her maiden name was Miss Rosa Lee Stewart. She professed faith in Christ over 40 years ago. Many years ago, she and Mr. T. E. Clark were married. Both were members of the Unity Baptist Church of Montgomery County.

Burial was held at Red Hill cemetery in Montgomery County Friday, February 8 at 2 p.m. Rev. L. F. Fowler, pastor, officiated. Large numbers of friends came to pay their last respects to this splendid wife and mother and to offer silent sympathy to the bereaved ones gathered at the graveside.

Surviving her are her husband, Mr. T. E. Clark; five sons, J. H., J. M., Ernest, Zeke, and Slim Clark; two daughters, Mrs. E. G. Abel of Duck Hill; and Mrs. J. E. Caffey of Duck Hill; three sisters, Mrs. Della Hitt of Embry, Mrs. Katie Currington of Big Creek, and Mrs. Tippie Harris of Alva; and two brothers, J. W. Stewart and J. S. Stewart, both of Embry.

To the sorrowful ones, we extend our sympathy.

TELEGRAM FROM BILBO.

Pleased to advise that the President has just officially approved State of Mississippi Malaria Control Project with an allocation of $1,591,175.00. Sponsors fund $252,412. I have delayed advising you with reference to this matter in view of the fact that there were no possibilities of initiating the project until it received Presidential approval. Due to the fact that I have about 1500 inquiries here with reference to this project, I would be pleased to have you place the announcement in your columns where it will receive the greatest publicity, for which I thank you. WORK BEGUN ON NEW THEATRE

Grenada's new picture show, The Pix, is rapidly passing from its old status of barbershop to that of a cozy theater, as carpenters and painters are rearranging the interior of the Dogwood Building on the north side of the public square. This theater which, we understand, will show second run pictures, will probably have its formal opening within three weeks.

R. S. Baker, Former Resident Died In Dallas Recently

Rhodes Semmes Baker, 66, attorney, whose name is immortalized in the briefs of half a dozen Supreme Court cases involving Texas interests, died at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday at his home 319 Lemmon.

The gray-haired scholarly lawyer, whose name is immortalized in the briefs of half a dozen Supreme Court cases involving Texas interests, died at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday at his home 319 Lemmon.

Mr. Baker was perhaps the city's most widely known Presbyterian, having at one time been commissioner of the United States Presbyterian General Assembly.

He had been ill since early last summer.

LARGELY SELF-EDUCATED

Accepted as a colleague by art collectors, Bible students, officers and directors of industrial firms and the state's ablest lawyers, Mr. Baker was largely a self-educated man.

He was born in Duck Hill, Miss. May 30, 1874. His father, Andrew Jackson Baker, at one time served in the Mississippi Legislature, and in 1886, after moving to Texas, became for a time Commissioner of the General Land Office. The family moved to San Angelo when Rhodes Baker was 10. As a boy, he worked in his father's hardware store there during the daytime and read law at night. He entered the University of Texas without benefit of an academic course in 1894 at the age of 20.

Two years later he took his degree, first honor man of his class and that year he began his practice in Dallas.

He made an immediate success. On April 23, 1901, he was admitted to practice before the United States Supreme Court, and he began the long parade of cases that were to have a decisive effect on Texas.

FAMOUS INCOME TAX CASE

More than a decade ago he started preparing his most famous case, an income tax suit, Hopkins, the Collector of Internal Revenue vs. Bacon. In it Mr. Baker and his client sought to deny the right of the Federal Government to force husband and wife to file a joint income tax return in Texas and

Grenada Sewing Room Project Receives 12 New Machines

Nine new factory-machines are being installed in the PWA Sewing Room in the Agricultural Building. Since the organization of the Sewing Project on a State-wide basis on November 15, this type of machine is being installed in Sewing Rooms all over the State. Special emphasis is being laid on group work, training the workers in factory methods of production with careful supervision and instructions.

The Sewing Project was first organized to give work to unemployed seamstresses. In fact they have taken many women and taught them to sew or greatly improved their skill.

The purpose of the Sewing Project is two-fold: To give employment to needy women and to produce articles needed by public welfare agencies for free distribution to needy families and to tax-supported institutions. The work done must be such that the workers will give a fair return for the wages they receive.

The Sewing Room also renovates and repairs donated clothing. Garments made in the Sewing Room are repurchased by the County Welfare Agent.

The work is carefully planned on a three month schedule. In cases where local sponsors are unable to furnish all of the textiles, supplementary yardage in cotton goods may be purchased from Federal funds. Needles, pins, buttons, finishings, etc. must be supplied by local sponsors, and it is desirable that local sponsors furnish material whenever possible.

In Response to Governor
Johnson's Request

In response to a telephonic request from Governor Johnson, received Monday afternoon, we state for the benefit of our many readers: First, that the headline referred to in our last week's editorial about closing the door, appeared on the front page of the Jackson Daily News on Sunday, February 4; and that the quotation that we used in another editorial concerning Governor Johnson's average man came from page 8 of the Jackson Daily News of Saturday, February 3.

According to Governor Johnson, who admitted that he was vexed about the matter, for the first time in a long time, Fred Sullens had copied our whole editorial about the average man in his Monday's paper, and Fred had proceeded to defend Governor Johnson from the frontal attack (?) of the GCW. We share Governor Johnson's displeasure about Fred, who has always been inimical to Governor Johnson, attempting to defend (of all things) the governor from an old friend, like the GCW. If Goliath should be credited with defending David against Jonathan, we would be no more surprised.

Our telephone call coming right after the appearance of Monday's JDN containing Fred's comments on our editorial, leads us to believe that Governor Johnson had either failed to see, or having seen, paid no attention to the news article containing Johnson's alleged description of the average man, which had appeared in the Jackson Daily News about ten days before, and that Governor Johnson had either failed to see or, having seen, paid no attention to our editorial quoting this description, which surely had reached him three or four days before. It seems that Fred's defense of him was what vexed Governor Johnson, nor can we blame him.

We can quote word for word what we read in a newspaper, as we did in our editorial about the average man, but we hesitate to quote what Governor Johnson asked us to say with reference to the authenticity of the alleged quotation, as well as with reference to the editor of the Jackson Daily News. Experiencing for the first time the honor of being called by the governor of the state, we admit our consternation, and therefore will not attempt to quote Governor Johnson verbatim. He said something about a damn lie, and we think he said that that news article in the JDN on the 3rd of February was a damn lie. He said something about a damn liar, and we think he referred to the fellow who wrote that piece in the JDN news columns. He also said, as we recall, that the headlines about him closing the door was another damn lie, that he was seeing everybody who came. He also made reference to some money he once received from a fellow who told a damn lie on him. Governor Johnson, we recall, also said that the reporter or the re-write man garbled up his speech so that it was a plumb mess when published in the JDN. We hope Governor Johnson will favor us with a statement in writing, so that we can publish it verbatim. The foregoing, while a sincere attempt at accuracy, may be as badly garbled as Governor Johnson said the news article in the JDN was garbled.

That's the kind of mess we get into quoting from what is alleged to be Mississippi's Greatest Daily Newspaper. We hereby turn this controversy to Paul and Fred.

A Real Compliment

We feel so proud of the following letter from Tom Bruce Hill, editor of Belly Snider's new Delta Journal, that we are going to thrust modesty aside and publish it. Here it is:

I have your issue of February 8 right here before me, and after reading the first column, (By The Editor) I am convinced that you have one of the NEWSIEST publications this writer has ever chanced upon.

Bouquets are seldom passed in this game from one paper to the other, but in this instance, I would feel mighty low-down not to tell you that your Grenada paper is tops!

I'm sure that you know my boss Mr. J. B. Snider. He is mighty proud of the Delta Journal (our new baby) and we are stressing every effort to make it the outstanding publication in the Delta. We serve seven counties now. We hope to add more in the near future. If you're not on our list, please let me know and I'll get you a few copies over the hill.

In closing, I want to compliment you again on your fine paper and more power to you!

—Tom B. Hill, Delta Journal

??Food for Thought??

The horse and mule live 30 years.
And nothing know of wines and beers;
The goat and sheep at twenty die,
And never taste of Scotch and rye;
The cow drinks water by the ton,
And at 18 is mostly done;
The dog at fifteen cashes in
Without the aid of Rum and Gin;
The cat in milk and water sinks
And then in twelve short years it croaks;
The modest, sober, bone-dry hen
Lays eggs for noggins, then dies at ten;
All animals are strictly dry,
They sinless live and swiftly die;
But sinful, ginful, rum-soaked men
Survive for three-score years and ten!

All Very Confusing

Knowing that we hold No. 1 rating in the postoffice race in Grenada, hundreds of people have asked us about the postoffice situation in Grenada.

Frankly, the whole matter is very confusing. About 18 months ago, we entered an open competitive examination for this position, and, after the slow turning of the many wheels and cogs, were acclaimed high man by the Civil Service Commission, the body that had charge of the examination. Ten citizens took this examination. The present acting-postmaster and an ex-postmaster were among that number. The mayor and an ex-mayor were included. The record showed that eight persons did not qualify, that is, eight persons failed to make a grade of 70. Two persons, the writer and ex-postmaster York, DID qualify. The writer earned a grade of 89.48, and Mr. York less than that, for he was second on the eligible list.

Soon after the announcement of these grades, Senator Harrison wired that inasmuch as there was so much confusion about the matter another examination would be held. Another examination was held about six or eight months ago, on such a matter. Eleven persons, including four or five who took the first examination, but excluding the writer and Mr. York (who stood pat), took the second examination. The time is now about ripe for the announcement of the grades from the second examination. This announcement is just about due, giving ample time for the wheels and cogs to turn properly.

A postmaster is to be appointed this Spring at Grenada. We have the word of Congressman Ford for that. Senator Harrison seems to have been master of ceremonies last summer, but Congressman Ford, according to his statement to us, will make the appointment his Spring. From that, we judge that Senator Harrison will have nothing further to do with the matter. It was very confusing to us, as to most other people, that Senator Harrison ever did have anything to do with the matter, for it has always been well understood that postoffices were congressional pie, and that the senators appointed only the postmasters in the home towns of the senators, that is, in our case, Poplarville and Gulfport.

We want to say this, in justice to everyone. Mr. Ford never has promised us the postoffice, even if we made a grade of 100. No one has promised us this office. We were guileless enough to expect that, if we were tall when measured by the other fellow's yardstick, we would get the office by virtue of being the best qualified man for it—not according to our own judgment, but according to the other fellow's judgment.

As to the future disposition of this matter, we have nothing positive, except the statement of Mr. Ford that he was going to make an appointment this Spring. Naturally we think we will receive the appointment if, when the results of the second examination are announced, we are still high man. Including those who took both examinations, SIXTEEN persons have been measured by the CSC for this job, four or five of them have been measured twice. We refuse to believe that Mr. Ford will walk around the man whom the CSC has named BEST OF SIXTEEN to appoint some fellow who barely qualifies for the position; and we refuse to believe it in the face of statements from dozens of folks, "Oh hell, Ford is not going to appoint YOU". These statements come from people who cannot give one single solitary reason why Mr. Ford should not appoint us, and, therefore, these statements are made of just thin air.

Seeking further to be fair, we recognize that the appointing authority, under the law, has the privilege of calling a second examination when only two persons qualify in the first examination—in the hope of getting a full register, that is, at least three names on the register.

Rediscovering the Mississippi

Honor upon honor has been heaped upon Hon. Joe Buehler Snider, native son of Grenada.

He represented his adopted county, Tate, in the state legislature many years. He represented his district in the state senate. He was elected Lieutenant Governor of Mississippi four years ago. Just recently, his adopted city, Clarksdale, named him to head the Chamber of Commerce.

And now, placing the capstone on his illustrious career, he has been named as head of the Mississippi River Rediscovery Committee. He, following in the footsteps of the illustrious Hernando Desoto, will rediscover the Father of Waters.

It seems since the Mississippi River is to be rediscovered, that Hernando did not do a good job of discovering it. A tale has arisen that Hernando did not discover it at all, that he stopped over somewhere on the Pontotoc Ridge, became infatuated with a Choctaw maiden and never got to the river at all; and that one of his lieutenants did the discovering.

Be that as it may, we will guarantee that it will really be discovered when Belly gets through with it. He never does anything halfway.

In Milan, Italy, there is an imposing monument to Hernando Desoto, erected to honor Milan's native son. We suggest that Grenada get ready to erect a great monument to honor its native son, Jacob Buehler Snider, rediscoverer of the Mississippi River.

We Want The Whole Hog

There are unmistakable signs of incipient rebellion at the Capitol in Jackson. Some of the legislators are attempting to kick over the traces, forgetting that the people of Mississippi approved most emphatically the splendid program for the average man, in all of its humanitarian ramifications. As for us, we want the program enacted 100 percent.

One-half of this program included the good things the average man was going to get from the state. Another half included a list of the burdens that the state was to take from the average man. We want the whole business, and we want the whole business, for we are a good Democrat and a vast majority of Mississippians said it wanted the whole business. We are just like Governor Johnson in that respect, in that we are for the people, especially for the average man.

We, like Governor Johnson, want one dollar per day for the old folks, including the old colored people, and excluding the pauper oath requirement, for we are tired of our old people struggling on with five dollars and six bits a month. We also want, as Governor Johnson wants, the removal of the sales tax on necessities of life, for we are tired of paying sales tax on snuff, flour, lard, side meat, drawers, in the order named.

We, like Judge Johnson so earnestly advocated and continues to advocate, want free school books, and would not balk at free pencils, free tablets, free lunches and free shoes for the unshod children, if Governor Johnson should add those items to his free list. We also want a material extension of the homestead exemptions so that we poor people will not have to pay so much taxes. We are tired of paying so much taxes and heartily commend any effort to remove or reduce taxes.

Just to a t-t-t, we are for Governor Johnson's program about farm-to-market roads which program cannot be better expressed than the then Judge Johnson expressed it, to-wit: "I want also to see Mississippi inaugurate and push to early completion an equally fine system of farm-to-market roads". While we might be accused of selfishness in desiring these fine extensions of farm-to-market roads, as we often use such roads, nobody can accuse us of selfishness for wanting $3.00 car tags, for we own no car. Judge Johnson expressed it so well that we cannot improve on his own view: "I believe a $3.00 automobile privilege is sufficient. I will recommend to the legislature a privilege tax for private automobiles not to exceed $3.00". Hear these words, legislators. Hear all of the words in this earnest plea we pray you.

Like Governor Johnson, we want eight months of school for all the children of Mississippi, including the colored children. We want better pay for the teachers who, as Judge Johnson often said, were of the noble profession (and that's about all he and Mike Conner agreed on). We favor a retirement pension for teachers, and as a necessary corollary, a great increase in the common school appropriation. We favor, just as vehemently as Judge Johnson favored it, free hospitalization of the poor, and we favor free maternity wards for expectant mothers unable to enter pay hospitals. We also join Governor Johnson in his laudable desire for a state-owned system of bonded warehouses and blending plants.

But, above and beyond all else, we applaud his patriotic desire to lift the burden of taxation from the backs of people. His words about economy in state government are so terse, so sensible, and so easily understood by the average man that we dare not seek to improve upon them. His own statement is:

"Rigid economy in government is essential if the tax burden is to be kept within the ability of the people to pay their taxes. I want to see Mississippi practice economy in the conduct of her government. I want to see the money of the taxpayer expended judiciously."

Noble words, nobly spoken.

A KIND WORD FOR

Before the people finally make up their minds about their choice for City Marshal, I wish to remind them of some things about Talbert Yeager, one of the candidates.

Talbert's people have been good citizens of Grenada County for nearly, if not quite, a century. His father was a good citizen of this city, and one of its peace officers. His uncle, old man Lewis Yeager, was about as popular a man as this county ever had. His mother was noted for industry and neighborliness.

Those prone to criticize Talbert should remember that he works under, and takes orders from another officer.

Talbert is a good man and, in my opinion, will make Grenada a good city marshall.

Sincerely,

J. T. GUM

I believe many others would sign this with me if given an opportunity

Messrs. Donald Ross and Raphael Semmes of Ole Miss spent the week-end here with their parents.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

The Auxiliary of American Legion met Friday evening at the legion hall. A very small attendance was recorded at this meeting because of the weather. All members are urged to attend these interesting meetings. After a short business session, the president, Mrs. Griffin, dismissed the group.

Mrs. Hurd Horton and daughter, Mary Elizabeth, were guests of their son and brother, Hurd Horton, medical student at U. of T. Memphis, the past week-end. While there they saw the picture "Gone With the Wind".

MISS SPAIN HONORED

One of the liveliest social affairs of the past week honoring Miss Peggy Spain, who is to become the bride of Mr. Arthur Grider of Memphis, occurred on Thursday of last week in the name of Mrs. W. W. Robinson, Mrs. H. D. Lane was co-hostess.

The reception rooms were arranged for nine tables of bridge. Lovely plants in bloom added their beauty to the charming setting.

The honoree's table was placed beneath an arch and was reserved for Miss Spain, Miss Lucy Webb Sharp, Miss Edith Penn and Mrs. Sam C. Mims III.

For this occasion the honoree chose a trousseau frock of black crepe with vestee and white collar. She wore white carnations. Her hat and matching accessories were of combination blue and white. The hostesses were attired each in afternoon frocks of black velvet.

Assisting with receiving and serving of refreshments was Mrs. Logan Wagner. She wore a chic black crepe afternoon frock.

Several prizes were awarded and the winners were: Honoree's gift, silver in bridal pattern, a sugar shell and butter knife; high score, Mrs. Roger Dollarhide, who received a handsome fluted bowl in white; low score winner Mrs. Knox Pierce received a double deck of cards; traveling prize, a hoh nail vase, was captured by Mrs. E. Seen, Heard and Told By The Editor

Job in the Bible raised an awful holier about bolls, but we are mighty glad to have them a pair, Glenn and J. P. Boyle, new subscribers on Route 2. We still lack a good deal of having 80 percent of the homes of the county on our mailing list, unhappily.

Mighty glad to add to our mailing list the name of J. A. Roane of Luka who, happily, is slowly recovering from an illness that was a most serious and most lingering one. In spite of all, he keeps cheerful and bright.

The Methodists seem to like their new preacher.

Toni Meek and Earl Burkley, the only Ferdinand addicts in the crowd, were able to go to the hospital when they got sick. Us ordinary fellows have to get hot bricks to our feet, stay at home and take common old castor oil when we get sick.

A big snuff dipper, named King, from New York, came by last week inquiring about the convention. We are waiting until after the city election to have a call meeting of the executive committee composed of King Fowler, Vice King Whitaker, Commentator John Keeton, and Master Dipper Ed Underwood.

The city of Oakland, California, or that part where Mrs. F. J. Peterson lives, will receive the enlightenment that goes like an aura of civilization, with receipt of the GEW. In other words, she is a new subscriber.

Pete Embry paid his dues, for he was scared we would write him up again.

Miss Martha Vance Smith of Memphis spent the past week end here with her mother, Mrs. C. L. Bass.

One of These Will Be Mayor

E. C. NEELLY

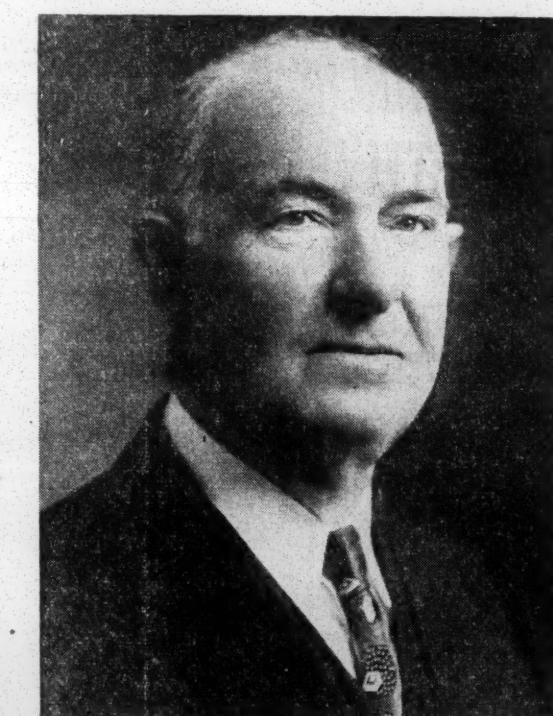

Mr. Neelly is serving today as mayor of Grenada, and served more than one term as alderman before he became mayor. He is running for re-election on his record.

"CHOPPY" ANDREWS

Mr. Andrews, the youngest man in the race for mayor, is making his first venture into politics. He is a young lawyer and has had legal training.

R. W. (Bob) SHARP

Just because Bob's picture is the largest is no sign that we love him any more, or less. It is simply because he furnished his own picture, and it cost us nothing, whereas the other pictures belong to us, and we paid for them.

PROVIDENCE

Providence is stuck in the mud. Mr. Will Ferguson, who underwent an operation at Grenada Hospital some time ago, is reported recuperating nicely at home. He said he didn't know how beautiful his wife's hands were, covered with biscuits dough until he went to the hospital.

Mr. Walter Worsham, who has been sick some time does not seem to be mending. We regret his illness, which seems to be permanent.

Mr. Zeke Clark is reported seriously ill with pneumonia in both lungs. We are hoping he may soon recover.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all the friends and relatives for all the kindness shown us during the illness and death of our mother and grandmother. Our deepest gratitude to Dr. Clanton for his help, and for each floral offering we thank each and every one. May God bless you all.

HOW TO HAVE A GARDEN
THE A A WAY

(Lottie Wood, H. D. A.)

Triple dividends are paid on a home garden investment under the 1940 Agricultural Conservation Program in Mississippi.

First is the $1.50 soil building payment provided by new AAA rulings. Credit will be given for a home garden grown on the farm for each landlord, tenant and sharecropper family on the farm. Two or more families on the same farm may combine their gardens into a common area.

There must be at least one-fourth acre garden for each family. Adequate protection from livestock must be provided.

The garden must be planted on one ear corn, crowder or field peas, tomatoes and sweet potatoes grown outside the garden plot. Two or more families piece of ground and must be devoted to vegetables throughout the year. At least 10 different vegetables must be produced which may include roasting on the same farm may combine their gardens into a common area. Suggested basic vegetables include sweet potatoes, Irish potatoes, collards, turnip greens and roots, snap beans, crowder and field peas, lima beans, cabbage, tomatoes, onions and okra.

Spring planting of garden vegetables must be completed by June 1st. Successive plantings should be made throughout the year with late plantings completed in time for harvest of vegetables before killing frost.

An effort must be made to control insect pests.

These gardens will be inspected and judged by men in the county who check the cotton acreage in July and August. The women who have entered the Garden Contest should be interested in this project. Other women, may compete for AAA payments without entering the contest. The garden contestants will have the gardens judged twice including the check made by the AAA men.

The following is a list of the women who have entered the garden contest: Mesdames Dewitt Brackley, Monroe Williams, Gene Gillon, Sam Gillon, Bill Saunders, W. N. Hayward, F. B. Coats, Sally Irby, J. D. Edwards, A. G. Lott, E. L. Bateler, A. B. McCormick, R. H. McCormick and Homer Brown.

Suggests New Elementary School Building

Greenville, Miss.

February 10, 1940

Dear Whyte:

While visiting in Grenada last week I was impressed with the urgent need of a new elementary school for that large number of boys and girls (over six hundred, I believe) now housed in the old building which is fifty years old this year.

It would seem very fitting to memorialize a recognized school authority, by erecting the John Rundle Elementary School in grateful appreciation for the years of untiring service Mr. Rundle has given to the children of Grenada.

With the present market for used brick, and the generous government grant allowed for such worthwhile projects, a school that would do credit to the new Grenada could be built with very little outlay on the part of citizens.

I wish to extend a cordial invitation to the Board of Trustees, Mr. Rundle, and others interested, to drive over here and see the newest and best in modern schools as exemplified in Car-

EDITORIAL

The other night I dreamed a dream that was terrible to me. I saw my dearest friend drive off a high cliff in a most real nightmare. Then in my dream, I remembered all the mean little things that I had said and done to him; I wished that he were back so that I might atone for them. Next morning, having been assured of the well-being of my friend, I promptly forgot my resolves. If only we would treat our friends as we resolve to after a dream like that, what a happy world this would be! Little acts of kindness are too often left undone; we forget their importance in the hurly-burly life we live. Don't wait for a nightmare to jar you out of your complacency; start right now to be a friend as life is so short and uncertain.

WHY WERE YOU LATE?

At one time or other all of us are tardy. Sometimes you are just a minute late. Other times so late that you can't look the clock in the face. Some excuses given Miss Hammond this year are:

I couldn't get the car started.
I had to go buy note book paper.
My watch was slow.
The car broke down.
I had to go up-town for mother.
The alarm clock didn't go off.
Mother was sick.
I forgot my clarinet and had to go home and get it.
I had to mail a package for daddy.
I had to go home to get my music book.

GIRL RESERVES

Thursday found the Girl Reserves singing to the skies. In fact, the program was one of songs led by Mrs. Cranberry, who made helpful suggestions.

Audrey Moss read a short scripture from Luke and an opening prayer followed. And then one could tell that the group were real Girl Reserves by the way they sang:

Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, Shortarin' Bread, Follow the Gleam, Triangle Blue, Just Like A Gypsy.

EARLY IN THE MORN

One morning last week, to satisfy my curiosity on certain points, I arose and came to school at an unearthly hour. After having stumbled over several quiescent forms patiently waiting the dawn, I found my seat in the study hall. I presumed that they had been there all night.

I looked around me to ascertain the personnel of the morning watch and behold in the gray morning shadows the persons of Bobby Weir, Johnny Mitchell, Bennie Moore, Charlie Kenwright, Charlie Calloway, Max Juchheim, William Spears, and Posey Gant.

When the first rays of light made their way into the study hall, I was prepared to see them rush eagerly into the library and grab a Mississippi Constitution, interpret the Koran, or read the Latin Magazine.

They rushed into the library alright, but that was as far as my expectations were fulfilled. They all made for the same thing—guess what—the funny paper! Such disappointment I felt in these seemingly scholarly gentlemen!

Along about 7:00 by one clock, and 7:10, by the other one, Sue Rowell, Beulah May Vick, and Joyce Fleming came into the study hall and were reluctantly admitted into the early morning group. By 7:30 there were a dozen or so in the hall and library, but important looking groups, were forming on all sides. Some were discussing sport news; others their lessons; and most of them gossiping.

Yes, my early morning observances in the study hall were very disappointing and from now on I'll appear when the tardy bell indicates its 8:20.

DING-DONG

'Tis Spring. The icicles are falling; the snow is melting; the birds are singing. It is a glorious Saturday.

Mary Jane awakes to see the sun streaming in her window. She yawns and slowly dresses in her gayest holiday slack suit, for today there will be fishing and a picnic.

Joyfully, she trips across the hall and phones several of her friends. Gleefully, she digs worms and rigs up her fishing poles. Jubilantly, she packs her lunch. Finally everything is ready and packed in her new blue roadster.

As she comes out of the front door she hears something and faints. We cock our ears and faint too, for it is the school bell tolling out that it is time to make up for that day in the snow last month.

My secret fear is that most seniors will get expelled and Onie Edison and David Turner will be salutatorian and valedictorian, respectively.

G. H. S. DIRT

It is a season of joy; yet all around us is desolation and wrecked romances. Shocked, we heard that Fred and Betty had broken up. Astonished, we viewed the Bobby Weir and Buta Brooks romance in dry dock. Going from bad to worse, we found that Barber York didn't date Susan at all while she was here. And continuing from worse to worst, we discovered that Posey Gant has almost wearied himself to death over the love of Billy Guy and he sees no hope. Alas and alack, but ain't it awful? And only yesterday was Valentine day.

De-fun-itions peculiar to physics class:

Peroxide is a blond metal.
Ohm—there is no place like it.
Ergs—what we eat at breakfast.
Dyne—means to eat.

Gosh, I don't know any dirt. Kenneth.

The snow is all gone;
The ground is bare;
But don't worry, folks,
The dirt is still there.

Mr. Goodman left us a lump of coal as a symbol of opportunity. Someone suggested this "foo-losophy": If you don't use your opportunities, you will be left out in the cold.

Gracie and M. M. renewed their auld lang syne Friday night.

Bryan and Beebe have definitely agreed to disagree.

QUEEN OF HEARTS

"Reses are red; violets are blue," etc., and our thoughts turn to the one who is first in our hearts for Valentine Day. Mickey's thoughts are turning toward Gracie and remembering her with a Valentine she can eat—and she is no paper-chewer, either.

The Joe and Libber romance ought to be set up as a model. Fred Smith still says that Thelma Jane is the only star in his blue heaven and he sent her a Valentine.

Rogers and Mary Lizzie are faithful forever. So are Tinsley and Anne and Brinker. Way from Ole Miss to Jackie came greetings from Cliff Bailey.

Billy Guy Thomas seems to be the queen of the whole school's heart, especially Dick Rule's, Wormack Smith's, Posey Gant's, D. M. Taylor's, and Edgar Turnipseed's. Now, we too can join in with Francis Hill when he praises his "Th" from Winona, (since we saw her at the Mardi Gras Ball).

Though miles between Beat 4 and Grenada separate Carolyn and William, they are still that way about each other.

D. M. Taylor's thoughts are reaching out to Elouise Stuckey in Arkansas. Katherine Harrison and Jeff Whitaker are so cute together that their pictures ought to be on a Valentine. The Walter Trussells and Autie Kelly romance is staying pat. (Better luck than the others had, Walter!)

Mary Martindale is still tops with William Nicholson and she received a Valentine (oh-h-h, isn't it thrilling). Kenneth Nall and Kathleen Carlisle rate first with each other and are enjoying delicious candy.

Which reminds me, I smell my fudge burning and I've got to go.

P.S.: This was written a week ahead so if there are any mistakes, get busy and make these lies come true.

WHY IT'S MY HARDEST SUBJECT

William Winter: Algebra, because I don't see how you can take nothing, less than nothing and get something.

T. W. Goodwin: Physics, because it's all a mystery to me.

Rogers Bell: History, because it is hard to remember dates, and I don't like dates anyhow.

Sue Rowell: Shorthand, because (a true confession) I'm too dumb to learn it.

Kenneth Nall: Government, because I believe in anarchism.

Betty Rule: Shorthand, because there's so much to memorize.

Louise Avent: Latin, because I'm French.

Frederick Timmons: All of them.

Billy Semmes: Bookkeeping, because I have the soul of a poet, not an office grind.

Chapman Roane: Physics—lack of application; lack of study; lack of application to apply the little bit of knowledge he has. (Whew-w-w!)

We have a large group of intellectuals because all of the students we quizzed either didn't know their hardest subject or, less modestly, didn't have a hardest subject.

What's yours?

CHAPEL PROGRAM

To our surprised delight, we read on the study hall board that Mr. Goodwin from the Grenada Hosery Mill was to speak to us at the Chapel period. Because we realized how valuable his time is, we appreciated doubly his visit and enjoyed thoroughly his lecture on the manufacture of a new synthetic material, nylon, from which hose will be made in the future.

My Column
Whyle Whitaker, Jr.

EN ROUTE TO MONROE LOUISIANA

Leaving Grenada Saturday at 11 a.m. Jack McRee, Jr. and the writer started on our southward journey to Monroe.

They must have a good sheriff in Carroll county for the County Line gambling hell has been turned into a residence.

The tenant houses on or near Highway 51 are deplorable to look at. In most instances they are run-down, dilapidated structures hardly fit for cattle to live in.

Many of us think that the northern authors have given us a "black eye", so to speak. But seeing the realities of the situation it is evident that they didn't imagine the conditions that prevail, as Edger G. Wells does his fantastic stories of the world of tomorrow.

Durant is somewhat reminiscent of Grenada in that it is a clean, well kept town. This little place is enjoying the benefits of the "Bawl Plan" of government Whites; having a hosiery mill some what inferior to our own.

Pickens, twenty miles south, is a striking contrast to the city of Durant. It is an untidy, dirty place it always has been, and probably will remain so. However, it is a busy little town indicating good farming soil in its vicinity.

Gas tests are being made around Canton. Trucks with their test drilling equipment can be seen every few miles Canton, the largest town between Memphis and Jackson is a thriving prosperous-looking city.

After entering Jackson the imposing structure is the old insane hospital. It would improve the looks of the town if it were torn down, it gives one such a creepy feeling. One of the uncondemned buildings is occupied by some government organization. Although the personnel has been changed screwy doings are still going on.

Houses are springing up like toadstools. No other city in Mississippi is enjoying such a bountiful growth. Every available office on Capitol Street is occupied. Traffic moves fast in Jackson, without the use of a car horn—one simoleon every time a cop catches a motorist blowing it. Justly, Mississippians can be proud of their capital city. There isn't the usual dirt and filth that is to be seen in many cities of its size in the South. The inhabitants of Jackson take pride in the appearance of their homes, landscaping their lawns with evergreens and flower beds. Many well preserved and magnificent antebellum homes are to be seen in our capital city.

About 4 miles west of Jackson comes Clinton, the home of Mississippi college. Jackson harbors its greatest rival, Millsaps. These two schools like each other about as much as two perfectly strange tom cats seeking the love of a feminine feline.

The country between Clinton and Vicksburg isn't very pleasing on the eye. There are a few orderly houses to be seen in tillable creek bottoms, and two or three neat looking hill towns. I have often wondered how people make a living on such soil, and the more I look the more my wonder grows.

Vicksburg, the city of historical lore, is situated on and surrounded by the most imposing hill in that locality. There are people of all nationalities and creeds. Some living in their beautiful time aged mansions—others in river shanties, or even worse living quarters in river boats.

The bridge that crosses the Mississippi river carries you from the hills to the city.

the delta—from an unfruitful section to a very fruitful one—from a dry state (bar, bar) to a wet one.

The country from Vicksburg to Monroe is about the same all the way, being rich delta land for a few miles, then a swampy area of trees covered with moss. The land is awfully wet this season of the year, making the land unattractive. The farmers use cover crops to keep the soil fertile (vetch being the most widely used); incidentally, not far along the highway to Jackson had vetch planted in it. The suburbs of the towns are lined with filling stations and honky-tonks bearing "Dine and Dance" signs.

Monroe has her share of liquor stores, bars, and honky-tonks. It is amazing that you hardly ever see a drunk person. Having access to liquor anytime except Sundays probably takes the false glamor out of it. If I saw a drunk person during the time spent in Monroe I have no recollection of it.

Monroe has a paper mill on its outskirts and when the wind blows the odors from it drift town, it makes it almost unbearable to a stranger—the inhabitants say you can get used to it if you live there long enough. It is hard to describe the smell—but one visiting editor said it smelled like some pole cats had a "dinner and dance" signs.

convention and it ended up in a fight to which we agree.

By the way, Jack McRee and Mary Alice Sanderson were married Sunday afternoon. Being a deep, dark secret, please consider my saying so strictly off the record.

Mary Alice was going to make some man a good wife, so it might as well be Jack, he can afford one.

Incidentally, Mary Alice has the same given name as Jack's mother, whose name before she married, was Mary Alice Kirkland.

Since I can't afford a wife I guess I will have to become an old bachelor, or as luck will have it, I might find me a young rich widow. That being my aim and long cherished desire.

I had a big time with the Monroe females, but they are not as good looking as the corn fed Mississippi girls.

Several other states with similar community property laws. In October, 1930 the Supreme Court handed down a decision upholding Mr. Baker's contention that husband and wife might file separate tax returns, thus avoiding the taxes of the higher brackets.

Three years ago he represented one of the defendants in the states famous $17,000,000 antitrust suit against seventeen oil companies. It was his last notable case.

At the time of his death he was a member of the firm of Thompson, Knight, Baker and Harris in the Republic Bank Building. He had formerly been associated with Baker and Rhea, Plowman and Baker, Etheridge and Baker and Spence and Baker.

Among his associates he was known as a man to whom the law came easily. He was stoutish, 5 feet 9 inches tall, round and full of face, dignified, and quiet and human. On a case, he worked swiftly and accurately, he seldom had to check for mistakes. He had at his fingertips a huge knowledge of the law, but associates said he never shamed over his case books as most successful lawyers do.

He found his outside interest in the Bible class he had taught at the First Presbyterian Church for thirty-seven years, in reading and in art collecting.

He was an avid student of the Bible, and the long hours he had spent voraciously devouring books in the fine library at his home had made him acquainted with wide literature.

As an art collector he had decorated his home with a number of paintings and etchings by such Americans as George Inness and with the works of such Eighteenth Century English artists as Gainsborough, Reynolds and Romney. He was a member and past president of the Dallas Art Association.
